

TechFest 2012 SCADA Conference

Empowering the Visual Utility

Join Us for TechFest 2012

Survalent Technology will host TechFest 2012 SCADA Conference at the Hilton at Disney World, FL, June 11-15, 2012. The week-long event is open to all utility and other SCADA professionals. Hosted by Survalent and its User Group Executive committee, this will be an important forum for SCADA users to share their challenges, successes, and best practices.

TechFest is structured into 2 days of technical training courses and 3 days of conference seminars. The 17 training courses, delivered by 4 different Smart Grid technology providers, will be organized into 3 training "tracks," allowing each attendee to choose topics of greatest value to them. The conference seminars will offer additional technical training, product and industry updates from various organizations, user roundtable and panel discussions, and keynote speakers. Up to 300 attendees are expected.

TechFest 2012online registration opens January 1st. It is accessible from Survalent's website at www.survalent.com

- Training Options w/Great Early Bird Rates
 - Dessert Reception
- At
Epcot
- Universal Studios
 - Disney World

Save The Date!

For More Details on this
"GREAT EVENT "

Visit our web site www.survalent.com