Utiliverse™ ecosystem

Survalent provides a variety of training courses to help your organization gain the greatest value from its investment in Survalent products.

It's not enough to invest in our ADMS solutions: you need to empower your users to maximize results. Training is the best way to ensure that you're able to realize the full value of your investment in our software during every phase of implementation and beyond.

Different levels of application and technical training are designed to prepare your project and technical teams. We can also develop customized courses based on your unique needs and business requirements.

Depending upon your needs and preferences, you can choose to receive training at Survalent's state-of-the-art training facility, at your site, in a virtual training session, at a regional workshop near you, or during our annual Survalent Global User Conference.

Training Overview

Whether you're new to using Survalent's software or need a refresher course, we offer a range of instructor-led and self-guided courses to help you learn the key features, tips and best practices, and application uses. Courses are offered at our training facility in Canada and as virtual training. In addition, any of our courses can be delivered as custom training for your organization. Read on for more information about our training options.

Virtual Enablement Series

If online, instructor-led learning delivered in short sessions is what you're looking for, Survalent's virtual enablement courses are the ideal option for you. These 4 hour, interactive courses are designed to give you targeted training from a Survalent instructor, as well as hands-on experience applying the theory you have learned in practice. With many courses to choose from and more being added on a regular basis, you'll find plenty of options to deepen your knowledge, sharpen your skills, and improve your use of Survalent applications.

In-Person and Virtual Classroom Training

Looking for comprehensive application training that delivers the information you need to work more effectively and productively? Survalent's 5-day classroom training is exactly what you need. These interactive, instructor-led courses combine expert facilitation, hands-on learning, and group participation in an in-person or online setting to create a rich learning environment. Successful completion earns you 40 professional development hours. With courses ranging from beginner to advanced in a variety of applications, you're sure to find the right course for you.

Self-Paced Learning Program

Survalent's modular, self-paced learning program gives you the flexibility to learn at your own pace and on your own schedule. You'll have access to full course materials, simulators, tutorial videos, and instructor assistance via email to help you complete the course modules. Upon successful completion of all modules and the final exam, you'll earn 40 professional development hours. The self-paced learning program is currently available for SurvalentONE SCADA System Level 1 and Level 2, with more courses scheduled to be added in the near future.

Custom Training

With Survalent's custom training courses, you can choose modules and materials from our standard courses to meet your organization's specific needs. A training specialist will work with you to develop your desired content into a curriculum of 1 to 4 days and help you choose the right delivery method for your group. Custom training can be instructor-led or delivered as operator training and delivered in-person or via a virtual classroom. With a broad range of topics to choose from, our custom training is guaranteed to provide the exact training your team needs to optimize their use of your Survalent applications.
